Sandman Glass & Gift Newsletter – June 2009 – “Father’s Day”

“Father’s Day”

Tough, strong, courageous, kind and loving... Dad’s can be all of the above.

Dad’s Day is coming up quickly. Let’s face it, Dad’s are tough to figure out what to buy for. Tools are always an option.

But what if he has everything in the world in the way of a tool and your stuck trying to figure out what to get him! We, have some options.

Tom Seamon’s came up with an idea in the store to create some fly fishing articles. He remembered his Mom and Dad fly fishing and using selected fly’s from it (see article).

On the other hand another idea is from, John Gonzales. He has been flint knapping ever since his great-grandfather taught him. His items have become collectable and he is considered one of the best knappers in this part of the country.

In the store, he has framed art or you can his points purchase singularly.

“Summer Fun”

It seems I can’t seem to run out of ideas. Summer comes and it get’s me so excited! So I have developed new artistic designer plates.

Dad will even love these to serve his favorite Bar B-Que.

“Sandman Glass has a New Look”

I couldn’t resist re-decorating after my summer designing session.

We now carry internationally known, Hannah Disney’s, Fantasy Art work. Hannah is from the Idaho Falls area and we are happy to have her wonderful work in our shop!

Hooked on Fly Fishing!”

It’s the twinkle in his eye that Tom Seamon’s gets when he talks about how his Mom and Dad fly fished.

He remembers when as a young child his parents would have their favorite fly with them in a convenient fly fishing wallet. So he decided to share his talent of leather work and make these handy fly fishing wallets.

Born in Soda Springs, Idaho...Tom recalls fishing for cutthroat trout on the Blackfoot River. Back in those days, he says. “the trout were 10 pounds each and there were plenty of them to fish”.

As an avid auction attender, Tom picked up a leather sewing machine at a good price and started adding velcro to his Mom’s wallet design.

Tom currently lives in Idaho Falls with his lovely wife Kris. When he is not making leather items he works with wood and in antique restoration.

Jill Neeley just finished her 4- week course and wound up with 3 projects to take home.
